FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 4, 2017 – Ridgewood district parents and guardians will have the opportunity to provide anonymous feedback to the Board of Education in May, through a satisfaction survey distributed by email.

The 2016-2017 satisfaction survey will solicit parent / guardian opinions in a variety of areas, ranging from the quality of their children's education to their satisfaction with school facilities. The middle school and high school surveys will also include questions on the district's 1:1 Chromebook Initiative, which distributes laptops to all students in grades 6-12 for use at school and home.

The survey period will run from Tuesday, May 8 through Friday, May 19. All district parents and guardians with email addresses on file with the district will be sent a link to the brief survey for each school that their children attend. Instructions will be included to complete the questionnaire based on their youngest child's experience at each school.

The surveys are set up to be completely anonymous and cannot be tracked back to responders. Survey results will be collated and shared with the community and used by the Board of Education and administration as part of their evaluation of district policies and practices.

A dedicated email address has been set up to take questions or concerns about the 2016-2017 satisfaction survey at survey17@ridgewood.k12.nj.us.
